

Silver Landscapes in Viking-Age Gotland: From Hoards to Settlements

A workshop to be held in the School of Archaeology, Oxford

Thursday 26 March 2015

- 09:00-09:30 Per Widerström, Was there life before death?
- 09:30-10:00 Dan Carlsson, Inside or outside? Hoards and buildings
- 10:00-10:20 Discussion
- 10:20-10:50 Coffee
- 10:50-11:20 Christoph Kilger, Inflow and use of Samanid and other silver on Gotland. Some thoughts on targeting local, regional and long-distance networks
- 11:20-11:50 Ny Björn Gustafsson, From foreign to familiar. The entry and circulation of silver in the Gotlandic society
- 11:50-12:10 Discussion
- 12:10-13:10 Sandwich lunch
- 13:10-13:40 Majvor Östergren, Excavated contexts of hoards. Three case studies
- 13:40-14:10 Gustaf Svedjemo, Silver hoards in the context of settlements. Social structures and environment
- 14:10-14:30 Discussion
- 14:30-15:00 Tea
- 15:00-15:30 Dan Carlsson, The Middle man in the Baltic Sea. Viking Age harbours on Gotland
- 15:30-16:00 Gitte Ingvardson, Trade, craft and religion. Silver hoards as mediators of Viking Age life in the island of Bornholm, Denmark
- 16:00-16:30 Discussion and conclusions

Register for the workshop at jacek.gruszczynski@wolfson.ox.ac.uk

More information and abstracts at <http://krc.orient.ox.ac.uk/dirhamsfor slaves/>